INTRODUCTION

The fourth symposium of the IGCP638 on the geodynamics and mineralizations of the West African Craton (WAC), will take place on October 28th - November 2nd, 2019 in Algeria.

It will join together the international scientific community (professionals of the academic and mining sectors) on the topic: “Geology of the Paleoproterozoic formations for a sustainable development”. The event will proceed in the form of conferences (two days) in Algiers (International Conference Centre, Club des Pins) and of field trips (four days) according to the schedule indicated below. The sets of themes of the conference will relate to geodynamics, mineralizations, geochemistry, geochronology, geophysics, mapping, lithology, sedimentology, imagery, environment (pollution and deforestation related to mines) and other related subjects.

The events and targets are: (i) generate active exchanges between the actors of the field (enquiring, expert mining); (ii) produce scientific knowledge on the geology of the WAC for an update of the academic and school programmes and facilitate mining exploration; (iii) reinforce the capacity of the participants on the field methods of the Paleoproterozoic (Birimian) basement geology by the means of field trips (possible sampling of specimens).

FIELD TRIP

The post-conference field trip (October 30th – November 2nd, 2019) will be held according to the program below: The main aim, with the help of some specialists of this area, is to allow the participants:

- (i) examine and discuss together some key outcrops for the understanding the lithology and the geodynamics in relationship with mineralizations,
- (ii) visit operating mines within the area of Sétif : iron of Djebel Anini, lead-zinc deposits of Boukhdima, and Chaâbet El Hamra zinc mine [dinner and overnight at El Bachir Hotel, Sétif].
- (iii) Visit of the roman ruins and roman city of Djemila (close to Sétif), then departure to Guelma. A visit to the archaeological site of Ain Boucherit (near El Eulma and close to Ain Hanech site), called the Cradle of Humankind following the discovery of lithic tools in cut stones and fossil bones of animals going back 2.4 million years, could also be on the programme (see e.g. reference below) [dinner and overnight at Bouchahrine complex, Guelma].
- (iv) discover a wide variety of geological facies of the mineralized rocks within basins, thermal places (Guelma area) related to recent tectonic activities where several exploited ore deposits can be distinguished. (a) The station of Hammam Debbagh thermal spring (Guelma area) will be visited. It shows an active thermal source on top of a faulting system, with output water temperatures ranging between 89°C and 98°C indicating a high thermal gradient. Such water contains sodium chloride and calcium sulfate, and may also contain very low amount of radon and arsenic. However the discussion will be open and will focus on the formation of travertines which are cross-cut by several faults and fractures oriented in close relationship with the stress regime changes of North Africa during Mio-Plio-Quaternary. (b) Outcrops of the Kabyle Basement with its suite of metamorphic core complex, and numerous deposits of Paleozoic and Mesozoic ages within Annaba area will be visited [dinner and overnight at Bouchahrine complex, Guelma].
- (v) On the way back to Algiers before night, numerous deposits of Paleozoic and Mesozoic ages will be visited. The discussions may continue till Algiers.

Tourism: While being at the vicinity of the rich Roman ruins and ancient roman city of Djemila (near Sétif), we will take this opportunity to make a detailed visit of ruins and examine the geological outcrops around, A visit to the Archaeological site of Ain Boucherit (near El Eulma and close to Ain Hanech site), called the Cradle of Humankind following the 2018 discovery of lithic tools in cut stones and fossil bones of animals going back 2.4 million years, could also be on the programme.

Visit of Algiers and its surrounding area

Tourism: Possible individual or group visits of Bay of Algiers, Bardo & National Fine Arts Museums, Casbah
